By Xiang & Alexis

Alexis and I decided to make a fan game based on our favorite anime name "Konosuba." This game is base on the first season of the anime series and along with a few of our own ideas.

About

So as for our final presentation we are also wrapping our games to a simple a demo vision so everyone can enjoy.

For the past two month we have been working on character animation, basic movement, dialogue system, scene and little bit of everything.

Goal

We wanted to publish this game before graduation. It's going to be a free game that anyone can play with it and hopefully everyone can enjoy it.

Last year there were two seniors also did a video game like this with unity and people were forming lines just to play the game. We wanted make that happen again this year.

Alpha stage

Our games really isn't in Alpha stage yet but is playable with basic movement and animation. We almost manage to get our demo version of the games.

We got total of 5 different scene and many your typical games opinion and funtions.

Working progress

As for now We manage to get a basic demo version of the game but is not really even on Alpha stage yet cause we got no enemy !!!

Right now we decide to work on this game during the summer and publish it.

There are many different issues for publishing this games and obstruct but it will be a great experience for us.
